Subject: DMV commnets

I lived in New Jersey several years ago, and many of their DMV functions were performed by private contractors via what amounted to independent DMV service businesses. When I first moved there, I couldn't believe how fast and efficient they were – nothing like what I had been used to experiencing at a CT DMV office. I think that many of the functions that the CT DMV performs could be handled by private businesses, such as AAA, and could be done much more quickly and efficiently.
